

And all that Jazz

As part of the Melbourne Fringe Jazz Festival, Victoria University will showcase its students and staff along with two industry workshops.

The showcase will feature VU headline acts including, Sophie's Quest, Steve Hornby Quartet (pictured), Travis Woods Quartet, with a special guest performance by Jonathon Zion (pictured), Peter Knight and Steve Rando.

It will be held on Monday April 21 at 23 Bennetts Lane, Melbourne, from 7.30-9.30pm.

Sophie's Quest plays Latin Jazz, Jazz Ballads and Blues and consists of VU students and staff who have been performing together for nearly two years.

The Steve Hornby Quartet works across genres and features both cover and original material.

The Travis Woods Quartet, comprises four ambitious young students from the VU music program who have already secured a loyal following at their regular gig at Fidel's Café Bar in Essendon.

Two workshops will also be held on Thursday April 24 at VU's Music Department, Building 22, Sunbury campus from 1-4pm.

Workshop 1 on ensemble performance will feature Zoe Hauptman from Zoe and the Buttercups. Workshop 2 on electronic music will feature Kynan Robinson from the Escalators and Des Peres.
